The match on the Railway Ground, Kowloon, arranged between the Punjab and St. Joseph's, did not take place as the Indian soldiers were on strike duty.

Two reports of misconduct, ending with the players being ordered off the field, have to be recorded this week in the Senior League—Mair, Hongkong Club, and Wong Pak Chong, South China. One gentleman, an ardent Club supporter, overstepped the mark by going up to the referee at the close of the match and telling him that a more "disgraceful" exhibition of refereeing he had never seen in the Colony. It would be considered gentlemanly conduct if the person in question apologized to Mr. Williams who is a registered referee of the Hampshire and Hertford Counties and the Army Football Associations.

"CURLEW" v. CLUB.

A large crowd turned out to witness this game on the Club ground as the result of the match had a bearing on the League Championship.

The teams lined out as under:—

"CURLEW"—Hardy, Hooper and Cleaves; Dash, Wilson and Griffiths; Taylor, Scott, Smith, Cook and Lamb. Club—R. Rogers; Gerrard and McPhail; Mair, Stewart and Weyman; McTavish, Forsyth, Begg, Kuhr and England.

Referee: Mr. Williams. Begg started for the Club and the sailors went off with a dash Gerrard kicking behind. Forsyth cleared from a scrimmage in the Club goalmouth following the corner kick. Wilson tried a solo run and shot. The ball being deflected by a defender, a corner kick which was placed by England and Begg brought the sailors' relief when he headed the ball wide of the post.

Gerrard stopped a rush on the left but Lamb coming again beat him and gave to South, the latter sending in and Rodgers bringing off a smart save. Begg and Kuhr took the ball towards the sailors goal, Hooper clearing. England ended up a good run by shooting behind. Play was very fast but the interval arrived with the score level blank.

South restarted for the sailors and gave to Cook who sent well forward. Stewart passed back to Gerrard who turned the ball out to Lamb. The latter went down and centered and Scott, standing unmarked, shot in a shot which struck the inside of the upright and rebounded into the net at the opposite side. It was a lucky goal but Scott should have made more certain of his kick from such a good position.

From the centre kick the Club attacked, Forsyth being slow in frays of goal. Cleaves cleared. Hands against Cook in midfield sent the Club in where Cleaves stopped Forsyth and the ball rolled over the line. Mair fouled Cook and Wilson placing well in, Gerrard gave a corner, Lamb kicking behind from the place kick. Begg was penalized for fouling Wilson during the scramble following a corner kick. Mair was ordered off the field for persistent fouling, a ruling which a section in the stand resented by booing the referee. Resuming, McPhail let the ball pass under his foot and Taylor running in shot and Rodgers brought off a smart save by throwing himself full length at the ball.

With the remark of "come along the ten v." Stewart sent off Begg and the Club were forced a corner which the sailors cleared. Rodgers saved a long shot from Griffiths following a free kick for a foul throw-in and Forsyth failed to reach a forward pass from Begg, the ball going to touch. Weyman tested Hardy from a good position but there was no fire in the shot and the goal easily cleared. Griffiths fouled McTavish and Forsyth receiving sent in a shot. Kuhr running and being guilty of tripping the goalkeeper and the sailors were awarded a free kick. The whistle sounded for time, leaving the Curlew winners of a well contested game by a goal to nil.

On the run of the play Curlew deserved their win for they had the better combination as a team. Rodgers played well in goal for the Club and was unlucky to be beaten by the shot that struck the upright before finding the net.

"TAMAR" v. KOWLOON.

On the Navy "B" ground, the game ended in a win for the sailors by 5 goals to 2.

The teams lined out as follows:—"TAMAR"—Mitch, Bodgate and Smith; Grant, Hudson and Bryant; Hill, Oakland, Harper, Burd and Brazendale.

Kowloon—Woodman; Mason and Os- wick; Thompson, Morrison and Duncan; Millard, Hall, Pascoe, Morley and Coombs.

Referee: Mr. Smith. The sailors tied out two new men in Bodgate and Harper, while Kowloon were not fully represented, Wheeler being absent and Millard coming in from Reserve.

The game went in favour of the Tamar from the start and early in the game Oakland gave them the lead by giving Woodman no chance with a high shot.

Brazendale put the sailors further ahead by running in from the left and landing safely in the net.

Kowloon then had a look in and Coombs was sent away on the left and centering well down. Pascoe received and beat Mitch making the score 2 to 1 in favour of the sailors. The Tamar now took charge of the game and Brazendale put them further ahead. Keeping up the pressure Harper added to the sailors number and before the interval Brazendale completed the hat-trick by beating Woodman with a screw shot, the Tamar leading at half time by 5 goals to one.

Resuming, the sailors eased up and the play became more even, the only goal being registered in the closing half by Pascoe for Kowloon a slow game ending in a win for the sailors by 5 goals to two.

SOUTH CHINA v. KING'S.

At Sookunpoo, South China improved their chances in the League when they beat the King's by the odd goal in three. The usual large crowd of Chinese attended to support their team. The teams lined out as follows:—

SOUTH CHINA—Lau Hing Cheung; Chan So and Fung Tai; Cheung Wing Shing, Leung Tai Fong and Leung Yuk Tong; Chui Kwong Young, Ip Kau, Wong Pak Cheung, Kwok Po Kwan and Lau Tak Chang.

KING'S—Williams; Taylor and Wyman; Newton, Barlow and Hodgson; Burnett, Crumney, Jones, Dangerfield and Todd.

Referee: Mr. Hollands.

The game was evenly contested with the Chinese showing to advantage in the open. Kwok Po Kan scored for the Chinese who led at the interval by the only goal scored. Resuming, after the change of ends South China forced a corner and during the scramble near the King's goal, Wong was cautioned for jumping and dangerous play. Chui Kwong Young put the Chinese further ahead by the beating Williams with a long shot. The King's took up the attack but could not get the ball past Lau in goal.

During one of the raids on the South China goal, Leung Yuk Tong handled in the penalty area and Jones taking the kick beat Lau and made the score 2 to 1 in favour of the Chinese. The soldiers tried hard to draw level and Wong was again guilty of rough play and was ordered off the field. No further scoring took place South China winning by two goals to one.

R.G.A. RES. v. KOWLOON RES.

At Sookunpoo, Pomfret scored the only goal in a good game and the R.G.A. won by a goal to nil.

"CURLEW" RES. v. KING'S RES.

These teams played a fast game on Navy "B" ground ending in a win for the sailors by a goal to nil. The game was evenly contested and when a goalless draw appeared certain just on time, one of the soldiers punched the ball down in the penalty area. Biley taking the place kick won the match for his side.

UNIVERSITY v. SOUTH CHINA "A."

As was expected a keen game was played between these teams on St. Joseph's ground which ended in a draw of one goal all. The game was very fast and even, Samy scoring for the University in the opening half. Resuming after the change of ends the Chinese took up the attack and made the scores equal. Towards the close the game favoured the University but no further scoring took place and the game ended in a draw.

UNITED v. CLUB RES.

This match was transferred to the Club ground and the home side commenced with only nine men the United fielding ten. Early in the game the United were awarded a penalty and Leonard beat Hutchinson but owing to an infringement the referee ordered the kick to be taken again. Leonard shot straight at Hutchinson and the ball rebounded to Leonard who sent it into the net. The United did not hold the lead long for Ferguson beat Simmons and made the scores level. Hughes and Wood now joined the Club team. Payne in running forward to accept a pass was stopped by Israel close in and the referee awarded United a free kick from which Payne gave them the lead. At half time the score was 2 to 1 in favour of the United. Resuming Angus got through for the Club and Rodgers netted for the United who won the match by three goals to two.

Mr. G. T. May, having taken over the duties (pro. tem) of Hon. Secretary and Treasurer to the H.K.F.A. and League, all correspondence in connection with football should be addressed to Soldiers' Club Quarters, Queen's Road.

CRICKET.

Owing to the heavy downpour of rain, all cricket fixtures arranged for Saturday were postponed.

FIEUZAL GLASSES.

Out of doors there is nothing so restful and comfortable for the eyes as the light reflected from green fields and trees, the absorption of the ultra-violet and orange rays by the chlorophyll of the leaves; hence the introduction of Fieuzal Glass, yellowish green in colour, which is produced in several shades, and lenses made of this may be worn as a protection by over-sensitive eyes where it is desirable to tone down excessive light and glare.

Fieuzal lenses of any prescription in either regular or Toric forms are manufactured by the Hongkong Optical Co., successors to Clark & Co., Manufacturing and Refracting Opticians, 53, Queen's Road Central.—Advt.

THE RACES.

Though only another week remains for training for the race meeting annually held under the auspices of the Hongkong Jockey Club, the "cognoscenti" do not appear to have any confident views yet as to the probable winners of the principal events. As a whole the ponies are not up to the usual standard of former years; the percentage of ponies "crooked" under training has been greater than usual and training consequently has not been so well advanced. More favourable weather conditions during the past week have made for improvement, and in the gallops this week a better approximation of "form" will be possible. Even the Derby winner is still in doubt, though Mr. Birker's Sunstar is advancing in favour. This "glorious uncertainty" will give an added interest to the racing.

The times of Derby candidates in the gallops on Saturday were as follows:—

SUN STAR, 1½ miles—38, 110, 1.49.2, 2.16.2, 2.30, 3.23.1; l.q. 33.1.

At Messrs. WHITEAWAY LAIDLAW'S SALE, THE STORY OF A PAIR OF BROGUES.

As everyone knows, there is a sale on at Messrs. Whiteaway, Laidlaw's and goods have been reduced to as low as half their usual price. But no reduction is low enough to please some people; they know how to get things for nothing. One of these folk—a Chinese—appeared before Mr. Lindsell at the Magistrate's on Saturday. He was in Whiteaway, Laidlaw's on Friday, with a friend, acquiring the price of good brogues. They were too dear for the enquirers, although the price had been reduced from over $40 to $17.50; the men left and the shopman, in putting away the wares, noticed that a pair of the brogues was missing. Fortunately, the visitors were not yet out of sight so he followed them into the Central Market. With the help of a constable the men were searched and on one of them was found a pair of brogues, with the shop tags still upon them, tucked into the belt of the man's trousers.

In due time, after evidence had been given, it fell to the defendant to explain the presence of the shoes in his belt. It was a little difficult, of course, but he had a try. "I picked them up in the Central Market," said he. "Many a frugal housewife will envy him his luck."

"Picked up a brand-new pair of shoes in the Central Market," exclaimed the Magistrate, incredulously. "Is that the best explanation you can think of?"

"Yes, I picked them up," said the defendant. "I did not go to Whiteaway, Laidlaw's."

The shop-tenant said he was sure of the man and had seen him there on many occasions.

The defendant thought it best to try another tack. "I have an angry mother, a son and a wife at home," he said, "I came from Canton to look for a steamer to Syrtov. But all the steamers are laid up on account of the strike." (This in case Hongkong did not know it.)

"The defendant was next charged with returning from banishment. 'I have never been in Hongkong,' said he."

"Here is your photo: you were banished last year for ten years," said the Magistrate.

"May I see it," asked the defendant. It was held towards him gingerly, just beyond his reach.

"It is not I," declared the defendant. "So Sergeant Vincent went into the box to describe how he had 'classified' the defendant's finger prints and searched the finger print bureau." It came out that the defendant was the last man who should deny his identity; he had a damaged finger and a scar on another finger to help make assurance doubly sure. However, he was prepared to meet the wishes of the Colony. While still denying that he was the banished person, he intimated that he was prepared to leave the Colony now, forever.

"No, you will make a nice long stay first," retorted the Magistrate, sentencing him to three months' imprisonment for theft and to twelve for breaking into bounds.

Interesting episodes of life in China are described in a memoir, by his six sons, to the late Rev. Arthur Evans Moule, for many years missionary to the Chinese. In 1882 he became Secretary of the Mid-China Mission, and during a period of 1½ years in this position he was actively engaged in missionary work in the Settlement and native city of Shanghai. In 1902, after a period of rest in England, he made his fifth journey to China, starting on the long voyage as one of his brothers described it, "with the joy of a lad off for the holiday." Arthur Evans Moule was the sixth son of the Rev. Henry Moule, 50 years Vicar of Fordington, Dorset. The book is published by the Religious Tract Society.

DIOCESAN GIRLS' SCHOOL, KOWLOON. THE TWENTY-SECOND PRIZE-GIVING.

Like most other schools in the Colony, the Diocesan Girls' School complains of overcrowding but this chronic state became acute on Saturday afternoon when it became necessary to find accommodation for a large number of parents who attended the annual prize distribution. The Bishop of Victoria presided, Mrs. Severn gave away the prizes and amongst other visitors were: Lady Taylor, Lady Ho Tung, Mrs. Knight, the Rev. and Mrs. G. R. Lindsay, Mrs. Lindell, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. B. Wylie, the Rev. J. T. Holman, the Rev. A. J. Stearns and many others. Many hundreds were crowded into the principal school hall and the proceedings, though somewhat over-heated, were most enthusiastic. Miss Ferguson, the headmistress, showed a gift for making the annual report interesting and the Bishop of Victoria made a genial chairman.

After the prize-giving the children gave an entertainment for which they had been trained by Miss Walters. It was mentioned that no time had been taken from school work for the practice; neither had the parents been involved in expense, as is often the case. Quite good effects were obtained by the use of coloured "crinkly" paper for frocks; these lasted long enough for the run of the piece though they probably would not stand much longer usage. The operetta was all about, some "presumptuous and contumacious mortals" who stray into an enchanted glen during prohibited hours and find themselves on a charge sheet at the orderly room held by the Queen of the Fairies. They explain that they are searching for a lost "babe in the wood," the wicked step-mother who is responsible for losing the babe in sent for and, under the moral suasion of the fairies, becomes a reformed character. As the Bishop indicated, as the climax was reached, this method of bringing to a better state of mind quite knocked the parents off their perch, and the proceedings concluded on a note of hilarity. The whole entertainment was much enjoyed.

The Bishop of Victoria, in opening the proceedings, remarked that nothing was more full of pleasure and encouragement than attending prize givings at the schools of the Colony. All over South China he saw the results of the work of this school particularly.

ADDRESS BY THE HEADMISTRESS.

The HEADMISTRESS (Miss Ferguson) departed from the usual routine of reading a statistical report and told the story of the school's difficulties, trials and achievements in a happy and interesting speech. "It is just six months ago since Miss Skipton left us," said the Headmistress, "and although so far away she is always with us in thought and in memory (applause). Her influence is still felt in the school: we feel it especially, I think, on Sunday afternoons, between three and four o'clock, when we have a big assembly for hymn singing and always begin with the hymn Miss Skipton chose." Miss Ferguson mentioned the departure of Miss Roberts, in September, and acknowledged the value of the local help being received temporarily. As to the work of the staff generally, she said every teacher put her heart and soul into her work; the children knew it and the results showed it. (Applause.)

"With the growth of the Colony," Miss Ferguson continued, "all the schools are filling up and this school is filling too; in fact, in such an alarming manner that unless we can get more accommodation we shall have to refuse applicants. The highest monthly enrolment last year, was 112. When this school opened on this side we had between 10 and 20 on the roll. We asked for a new wing and were told, 'As soon as you have 120 we will consider it.' We had the new wing long ago and it is full to overflowing; there is no room for another desk and I don't know what to do." (There were sympathetic smiles as the Headmistress thus recalled, in her last phrase, the familiar nursery rhyme). The Headmistress added that the school had served as a gymnasium, class-room and play-room. At the present moment the dining room was used for these purposes, occasionally a great deal of furniture had to be moved out of the room, but only was a great deal of time lost, but the furniture itself suffered badly. The carpenter's bill at the end of each term was rather alarming. The audience showed by applause that it was entirely with Miss Ferguson in her suggestion that the small area of ground within the school boundary walls was not nearly adequate for a playground. "We ask anybody who has any influence at all with the Government to ask them to please consider us, because we are doing a huge work in this corner of the world and we should like some room to do it in." (Laughter and applause.)

The Headmistress mentioned that Mr. Balphs, the Inspector of English Schools, after inspection, recommended the School for the highest Government grant. Dr. Smallwood reported favourably upon the condition of the children's teeth and eyes and upon the dormitories and class-rooms. Great credit was due to the Matron, who always kept the rooms in such good order.

EXAMINATION SUCCESS.

Seven senior candidates entered for the Hongkong University Local Examination; all passed; one with honours. Ten junior candidates entered; all passed and five distinctions were gained. In July, 32 girls passed the home nursing examination of the St. John's Ambulance Association. Mrs. Fergus and Mrs. Smallwood gave lectures on hygiene, first-aid and home nursing.

Miss Ferguson thanked the friends whose gifts showed that they remained so staunch and true to the School. Medical firms and dentists had helped generously, as usual; donations to bathing machines had been received from Captain Wood, of Swatow, Major and Mrs. Walmsley, the Rev. and Mrs. G. R. Lindsay, Mr. and Mrs. Matthews and Mrs. Adams. The entertainment of children who stayed at school for the holidays was a real kindness; it was very dreary to be always in school and anything done for these girls was very much appreciated. Lady Ho Tung, Captain Baylis and the Manager of the Coronet Theatre had entertained the girls during the holiday. Donations to prizes were received from Lady Ho Tung, Mr. and Mrs. Ho, Mr. Choa, Mrs. Li Ping, Mrs. M. K. Lo, Mr. Doodha, Prof. Danenberg and Miss M. Doodha. Lady Ho Tung's prize for good conduct was awarded by the unanimous vote of the girls to Lizzie Lindblom. A gift of 22 hockey sticks by Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Gross was very much appreciated as "a gift that lasts." Hockey was all the rage at the school now, Miss Ferguson said, and tennis had quite fallen into the background.

A most acceptable gift came from Capt. Wood, of Swatow, during the strike. "We have such a big family to feed—about 60," said Miss Ferguson, "and Capt. Wood sent 600 eggs and baskets of vegetables and oranges." (Applause). Christmas gifts came from Mrs. Smallwood, Mrs. Clement Smith and the Victoria Diocesan Association. Mrs. Riggs gave books and toys, and Mr. Davidson and Mr. Robinson gave great assistance by arranging for extra seating for the prize-giving.

Mrs. Severn then presented the prizes and was afterwards presented with a very choice bouquet.

The Rev. G. R. Lindsay, in thanking Mrs. Severn for her help and the Bishop of Victoria for presiding, remarked that the high standard of the school, for which it was famous in Miss Skipton's time, was being more than maintained. (Applause). Kowloon thoroughly appreciated this school and the good work carried on by its teachers. (Applause).

The children then gave their entertainment of which the following is the programme:—

FUNERAL OF MR. O. FAREBROTHER MASON.

The late Mr. O. Farebrother Mason, whose death took place on Friday night, was buried in the Roman Catholic Cemetery at Happy Valley, on Saturday afternoon, in the presence of a large number of members of the legal profession and others. Mr. Mason was only 33 years of age and unmarried. He had suffered for some time from an affection of the heart which had been aggravated by the effects of being gassed in France. Since the end of December he had been in the French Convent Hospital and reports received by his friends from time to time indicated that his condition was very grave; for the last two weeks it has been regarded as hopeless.

Mr. Mason was a native of Louth, in Lincolnshire, and came to Hongkong in 1915 to join the firm of Messrs. Wilkinson and Grist. A year later he joined Mr. F. N. d'Almada and afterwards entered into partnership with him. When the war broke out Mr. Mason joined the Hongkong Police Reserve and was the first Chief Inspector of that Force. Having had previous experience with the Lincolnshire Territorial Force Mr. Mason was able to render valuable service in helping to train the Police Reserves. As soon as his home responsibilities permitted Mr. Mason joined the Army. He obtained a commission in the Machine-gun Corps and saw much service in France where he was wounded and badly gassed. For gallantry in the field he was awarded the Military Cross and he had also been awarded a special police decoration for his services in Hongkong. Mr. Mason was an accomplished tennis player.

He was unmarried and his parents are living at Louth.

The funeral service was conducted by Bishop Pozzoni, assisted by the Rev. Fr. Noval and Rev. Fr. Breton. The service was choral. Mr. F. N. d'Almada was the principal mourner and others who attended included: the Chief Justice (Sir William Rees Davies, K.C.), the Puisne Judge (Mr. Justice Gompertz), the Attorney-General (the Hon. Mr. J. H. Kemp, K.C.), the Hon. Mr. H. E. Pollock, K.C., Mr. J. E. Wood, Mr. Eldon Potter, Mr. F. C. Jenkin, Mr. H. A. Nisbet, Mr. R. E. Bellios, Mr. C. E. H. Beavis, Mr. W. E. L. Shenton, Mr. E. M. THE TALE OF A MAIL.

One Kellaway, deciding that Hongkong would like some mails, By boat and train from London town despatched them to Marseilles. The Khiva then conveyed them on a portion of their way. But, just to add variety, she dropped them at Bombay. To Bombay postal-wallahs, hardly knowing what to do, To Dhanushkodi sent them with the minute "Passed to you." The Babu there received them, and he thought there'd be no harm To send them on by train again so tried Negapatnam. The train was nice and handy, so that office had a try. To utilize boat-train, and it pushed them out "B.I." Their brain-wave was rewarded, for the mails reached Singapore, And there they met the Khiva, which had carried them before! The Singapore officials then remarked: "It's very wrong. Here's a lot of rotten mail-bags that are labelled for Hongkong. Did they put them on the Khiva, where before they had been stacked? For answer I refer you to 'Pygmalion' (Second Act). The Khiva was a British ship, at which they made demur, So they found a German liner and they sent them up in her!"

I forgive the seamen strikers; I forgive the Government; I forgive the worthy landlord who keeps putting up my rent; I forgive the Hongkong shaver 'neath whose frightfulness I quail— But not the mutton-headed mugs who muddle with my mail!

KOWLOON-CANTON EXPRESS HELD UP.

100 MEN BOARD TRAIN AND ROB PASSENGERS.

The Kowloon-Canton express train, which left Kowloon at 9.35 p.m. on Friday, with approximately 600 passengers, was held up by 100 armed men between Sha Tau and Sun Tung at 8.45 o'clock the same evening, and the passengers robbed of whatever of value they possessed.

Owing to the abnormal traffic on the line since the commencement of the seamen's strike it has been necessary to split the through trains for Canton into two or more portions. The 9.35 p.m. express on Friday contained two portions, and it was the first portion of the train, which was despatched about 20 minutes in advance of the second portion, that was held up. This portion contained third-class Chinese passengers, whilst the latter portion contained the first-class passengers. It appears that a number of robbers boarded the first portion of the train as ordinary passengers from Sha Tau to Tai Sha Tau. After passing Tong Mei, three of the robbers produced revolvers, held up the people in the leading coach, and then climbed on to the engine and held up the engine crew. They ordered the engine driver to proceed as far as Sun Tung at full speed, and from that spot he was directed to go slow until told to stop. If he refused, the robbers threatened to shoot all the engine crew. A little way past Sun Tung, which is 33 kilometres, or approximately 20 miles from Canton, the driver was ordered to stop the train. Immediately afterwards about 100 men, all of whom were well armed, rushed from both sides of the track, where they had been hiding, and boarded the train.

The robbers proceeded to search the passengers and from all accounts did the job thoroughly, going through all six coaches systematically. Robbers were placed at the doors of all the coaches and passengers who attempted to escape were ordered back to their seats. The scared passengers handed over their money and valuables, and those who refused were forcibly searched. The extent of the haul is not known, but it may be assumed to be fairly large as Friday is the day on which many Chinese traders return to Canton after a week's trading in the Colony. Many of these unfortunate travellers would no doubt be carrying practically all their earthly belongings, as is usually the case with the poorer Chinese, when travelling from Hongkong to Canton or vice versa.

With many robbers engaged, the looting operation would not take many minutes, and almost before the passengers had recovered from the fright the robbers had vanished from the vicinity. Knowing that delay was necessary to cover their flight, they forced the engine crew to accompany them from some considerable distance away from the track. Then they released the crew and the robbers scattered in different directions. The engine crew at once returned to the scene of the robbery and took the train through to Tai Sha Tau only stopping at Nam Kong to wire particulars of the robbery to Canton.

The railway authorities at Canton, on learning of the robbery, at once took steps to detain the second portion of the express at Tong Mei. A thorough search of the neighbourhood in which the hold-up took place proved fruitless, the robbers having taken to the hills. A special train, containing troops, was sent from Canton to escort the second portion of the express into Tai Sha Tau, where it arrived safely without any alarming experience. Fortunately no mails were carried on the first portion of the express. It is also interesting to note that none of the passengers were taken away for the purpose of ransom. This is probably due to the fact that most of the passengers belonged to the poorer classes.

The most amazing feature of the whole incident is that the robbery should take place in such close proximity to Canton, where troops and police are supposed to be very vigilant. As a special precaution against train robberies the Chinese section of the Kowloon-Canton Railway is supposed to be guarded by special railway police whose duty it is to patrol on railway trolleys the lonely section of the line remote from centres of population. None of these special police were seen for some miles on either side of Sun Tung where the robbery took place.

This alarming experience will doubtless lead to special precautions being maintained by the Canton authorities to guard the lines over its entire length in Chinese territory so as to ensure the safety of the travelling public.

CANTON INFORMATION BUREAU.
Canton, February 10th, 1922.
[A reference to this letter is made in our leading article.—Ed.]

Entering a cubicle, he made a tactical error. He struck several matches to try and locate the electric light switch. In the next room an intelligent apprentice was "in bed but not asleep yet," as he put it afterwards at the Police Court. The boy deduced (in the Sherlock Holmes manner) that no one but a stranger would have difficulty in finding the switch so he

Chan Kee had all rough time after that from the foks of the tea-house, judging from "two lovely black eyes" he exhibited in the dock on Saturday morning. It appeared that the room in which he was caught was not the first room he had visited for he was wearing three suits of clothes and was carrying a parcel containing another. He had risked his health, too, by putting on one coat still soaking wet after washing. However, if he has caught a cold the prison doctor will look after him,—for the next six weeks, at any rate.

A VERY FOOLISH THEFT.

The head messenger of the Sanitary Board, who has been in the employ of the Government for the last fifteen years, was charged before Mr. R. E. Lindsell at the Magistracy, on Saturday, with stealing a number of tins of Getzbest sardines and Phoenix biscuits.

Senior Inspector Lamore stated that several hundreds of tins containing sardines had been seized at a comrade's shop as being unfit for human consumption. They were placed in a locker awaiting inspection by the Medical Officer of Health. The locker had been opened by the coolies and a large number of the biscuits and sardines stolen. The defendant was amongst those suspected and when taxed with the offence he admitted that he had taken several of the tins. The defendant, witness stated, had been in the employ of the Sanitary Board for 15 years and had borne a good character throughout.

In reply to further questions by the Magistrate, Inspector Lambie stated that the defendant's wife was blind and that he had four children to support.

The Magistrate (Mr. Macdonald): You have a very foolish wife. You have had years of good service and now you have lost your job. In view of your long service and previous good character, I shall give you the benefit of a fine of $25, or in default, 14 days' hard labour.

Another messenger, who was charged with the theft of one tin of biscuits and five tins of sardines, was discharged, owing to lack of evidence.

for this protection, but a Government which claims that property in the province is safer to-day than it ever was before should scarcely need prompting when such lawlessness is seen to prevail. While trains can be held up and looted in the manner described in the reports, it is patently ridiculous on the part of the Government servants who run the "Information Bureau" to claim for the Administration that it gives greater security to property than the province has ever enjoyed before. If this is the best it can do, it is a very sorry "best." We are glad to learn that the Canton Government has taken measures to afford more effective protection for the property of those who travel by a railway which rests under an express obligation to protect, and we trust that the measures taken will include the arrest and punishment of the men who have been interfering with and obstructing the traffic in the vicinity of Sámchun.

Major Casel, who has been ill at the Peak Hospital for some considerable time, left by the Tenyo Maru on Saturday. Major Casel proposes to remain some little time in California for the benefit of his health, proceeding later to England, and returning to Hongkong towards the end of the year.

The German flag was once again evidence in the harbour yesterday when the Hamburg-America steamer Havelland arrived, bringing an English letter man on from Singapore. She moored alongside the Kowloon wharves. An English parcel and paper mail, also arrived yesterday being brought on from Singapore by the P. & O. steamer Khiva.

Canton continues to suffer from strike fever. The employees of the Kwangtung Electric Company have presented demands for an increase of thirty per cent in their wages and threaten a strike if their demands are not granted. The Manager of the Company has petitioned the Municipal authorities to mediate. It is reported that representatives of the workers were requested by the Municipal authorities to hold a meeting at the Municipal building on Friday.

When exhibited at the Magistracy, on Saturday, it took six men to carry a haul of arms and ammunition that Inspector Bond found on two fishing-boats at Mokoko, on Friday night. Two licensees were charged with unlawful possession and Mr. E. G. Vaux obtained a remand to prepare the defence. On one boat were found seven good Winchester rifles, two revolvers, three pistols, 5,600 rounds of ammunition, cleaning rods and other gear. On the second boat were: one revolver, 7,700 rounds and 18 ammunition

A number of appointments made ships on the China Station were announced at Home last month. They included the following:—Commander C. Crocker, D.S.C., to the gunboat Tarantula in command on recommissioning; and Senior Officer in the West River; Lieut. Commander C. K. Gill, B.A., captain of the Titanic at Hongkong at an early date. Commissioned Boatwain W. Percorell has been posted to Hongkong Dockyard for service there.

MORE TROUBLE IN IRELAND

TERRIBLE AFFAIR INTENSIFIES BITTERNESS.

FRANCE AND GENOA CONFERENCE

REASONS URGED FOR ITS POSTPONEMENT.

LATEST CABLES.

[THROUGH BUREAU'S AGENCY.]

MORE TROUBLE IN IRELAND.

TERRIBLE AFFAIR AT CLONES

INCREASES BITTER FEELING.

LONDON, February 12th.

The bitter feeling between North and South Ireland, arising from the kidnapping earlier in the week, has been intensified by a terrible affair in Monaghan yesterday. Twenty Northern special constables were waiting to catch a train at Clones when a party of I.R.A. appeared and fired on them with rifles and machine-guns, killing four and wounding and taking prisoner the others.

THE GENOA CONFERENCE.

WHY FRANCE WANTS IT POSTPONED.

PARIS, February 9th.

Conversations are proceeding in a most friendly tone between the French and British Governments about the date and programme of the forthcoming Genoa Conference. France is insisting upon a definite programme being drafted beforehand, which means the Conference being postponed for a couple of months, whereas Britain wants it at the beginning of March. According to L'Eclaireur de Paris, M. Poincaré also insists on an invitation being extended to the League of Nations. At any rate Parliament is unanimous in support of M. Poincaré's viewpoint.—Havas.

FRENCH NOTE TO FOREIGN CABINETS.

PARIS, February 10th.

The French Government has wired its representatives abroad, for transmission to foreign cabinets, a note on the forthcoming Genoa Conference. The note insists upon the expediency of the Allied Governments agreeing beforehand about the Conference's scope, pointing out that the programme drafted at Cannes involves momentous principles whose mistaken interpretation would have far-reaching consequences. The various treaties issued from the Peace Conference are now Europe's magna charta and France cannot accept them to be called into question. The forthcoming Conference thus calls for a preliminary understanding extending preparatory work of some three months' duration.—Havas.

DANISH LABOUR TROUBLE.

LOCKOUT AFFECTING 170,000 MEN DECLARED.

COPENHAGEN, February 11th.

The Conciliation Board's proposals for mediation in the hours and wages dispute were rejected by both parties. The Danish Employers' Association now declares that a lockout will commence on February 14th, affecting 170,000 men including 80,000 unemployed.—Havas.

THE GEDDES REPORT.

ARMY, NAVY AND EDUCATION REDUCTIONS.

THE ADMIRALTY'S CRITICISM.

LONDON, February 10th.

The Geddes report suggests that the War Office should economize on garrisons generally by withdrawing or reducing battalions and employing native instead of British troops. It proposes specified changes at Malta, Gibraltar, Egypt, Palestine, Singapore and Ceylon and declares that military reasons for stationing two infantry battalions in North China do not exist. The proposals will result in a reduction of twenty-eight battalions in twelve depots.

EARLIER CABLES.

The Geddes Committee recommends the appointment of a Minister of Defence to administer the Navy, Army and Air Forces; reductions of 35,000 in the personnel of the Navy; £31,000,000 in the Navy Estimates, exclusive of any saving due to the Washington Conference; 50,000 in the personnel of the Army; £20,000,000 in the Army Estimates; £5,000,000 in the expenditure on the air force and £16,000,000 less on education.

The Geddes Report further recommends a reduction of £2,500,000 in the Ministry of Health and on national health insurance, the appointment of a committee of experts to simplify unemployment insurance and to investigate the possibility of abolishing employment exchanges and the Ministry of Labour; a reduction of £3,000,000 on the Ministry of Pensions; and the abolition of the Ministry of Transport and the Department of Overseas Trade. The Committee suggests altogether a reduction of £75,000,000.

EXPENSES AT WEI-HAI-WEI.

Referring to Wei-hai-wei, the Report says that it is used at present for the purpose of recreation and minor repairs to ships, at an annual cost of £25,450. An average of 23 was paid in wages for every 2½ worth of material used, as compared with 30s. similarly paid in private shipyards. Unless costs can be reduced Admiralty work must be sent elsewhere.

ADMIRALTY CRITICISM.

The first official criticism of the Geddes Report comes from the Admiralty, and is couched in strong terms. While admitting the practicability of certain economies which are actually being effected it accuses the Committee of misconceptions leading to impracticable suggestions. It declares that even viewed in a most liberal and most unpractical light not more than £14,000,000 of the suggested £91,000,000 could be saved by the Navy. It suggests that the remaining £77,000,000 is merely a figment of the imagination. After detailed traversing the Committee's methods as dangerous when adequate naval strength is at stake.

SALE OF THE "ALACRITY" RECOMMENDED.

LONDON, February 10th.

The Geddes report recommends that the service vessel Alacrity, which has been at the disposal of the Commander-in-Chief of the China Fleet, be sold.

GUILDHALL AIR CONFERENCE.

MAIL THROUGHOUT THE EMPIRE URGED.

The special Air Conference at the Guildhall concluded with the passing of a resolution calling upon the Government immediately to consider the foundation of an air mail throughout the Empire. All the speakers previously had emphasized the failure of commercial flying, and a number urged the Government to support civil aviation.

Lord Gervill, Under Secretary to the Air Department, announced the formation of a Civil Aviation Advisory Board to consider the practicability of an Imperial air-mail service.

Mr. Chu (the Chinese Charge d'Affaires) contributed to the discussion in an interesting way. He foreboded the extensive development of air mails in China, as circumventing the lack of railways and the shifting river beds. He instanced the Peking-Tientsin service, which is shortly being extended to Shanghai, and declared that China was equally interested in the extension of external services for improving communications with the outside world, which generally were painfully tardy, to the detriment of the country's trade.

Mr. Chu welcomed the London-Paris service as a beginning in shortening Anglo-Chinese mail exchanges, and pointed out that the time was bound to come when this would be extended to the greater part of the journey to the East. He promised that by that time China's air post would cover the whole of the country.

NO PROVISION EXCEPT FOR PROMOTION OF PEACE.

WORLD HUNGER FOR BETTER RELATIONS.

WASHINGTON, February 11th.

He declared that the treaties would end contradictions, remove ambiguities and establish a clear understanding. They had been drawn up, like the unratified Treaty of Versailles, in response to a manifest world hunger for better relations, but they contained no provision except for the promotion of peace.

BANQUE INDUSTRIELLE.

M. POINCARÉ'S THREE PROBABLE SOLUTIONS.

PARIS, February 11th.

President Poincaré will make a statement to the Finance Committee of the Senate on February 13th concerning the Banque Industrielle de Chine. M. Poincaré has informed the presidents of the senatorial commissions of three solutions which they can take into account: either to refloat the Bank in accordance with the Government proposal, or the substitution of a new organization to that existing previously, or to reimburse the most deserving, namely, Chinese depositors and officials. Respecting the Boxer Indemnity, the question is whether the arrangements made by America can fit in with what France may expect from China. President Poincaré will clear up these points before the Commission and will submit the Government's views.

HONGKONG HOTEL MOTOR COACHES.

MOTOR SERVICE TO REPULSE BAY TO BE OPENED SHORTLY.

OFFICIAL RUN ON SATURDAY.

At the invitation of Mr. J. H. Taggart, General Manager of the Hongkong Hotel Company, Limited, a representative of the Hongkong Daily Press, on Saturday attended the official run of one of the six new motor-coaches, with which the Company intend to maintain a regular service between Hongkong and Repulse Bay Hotel, starting from next month. It is probable that the first public service will be given during the race-week, when the Company hope to use all six coaches in relieving traffic congestion between town and Happy Valley.

The motor coaches, which arrived about the beginning of the month by the s.s. Sutton Hall, are now practically ready for the road. Nothing approaching this type of vehicle has been seen in the Colony and, the trial run on Saturday proved beyond doubt their suitability for the service for which they have been obtained. No difficulty was experienced in negotiating the many awkward corners in getting the vehicle from the lower level to the Causeway level and thence to Repulse Bay. "Jacob"—the Hotel No. 1 driver—handled the coach well and voiced the general opinion at the end of the journey when he said that "the coach is a beauty."

The 40-h.p. engine pulled well, and there was no jarring, or jerking on the changing of clutches. The steepest gradient was taken on third gear, without any great loss of speed.

But one has to remember that speed is not the main object for which these coaches have been designed. In fact, the engines are fitted with governors which prevent the vehicles being run over a given speed. On Saturday, the speed was governed not to exceed 30 miles per hour, and the time occupied during the trip was something like 40 minutes. The vehicle just glided quietly along, and on a somewhat sultry afternoon the drive along the road skirting the sea was very enjoyable.

The maximum amount of comfort for a minimum charge is really the main object of the Company and it is safe to prophesy that coaching to Repulse Bay will be very popular during the coming hot season. The wheels have broad pneumatic tyres, whilst the interior of the coach is upholstered in limousine style. These three essentials effectively insure the passenger against the jolting so common in the smaller type of car. At one point of the journey the coach ran over a section of "road under repair" and, despite the number of humps and hollows, there was a complete absence of bumping.

A number of Government officials were present at the official run, including the Captain-Superintendent of Police (Mr. E. D. C. Wolfe), a representative of the Public Works Department (Mr. R. P. Shaw), the Superintendent of the Forestry Department (Mr. H. Green), and Traffic Inspector H. G. Garrod. The Secretary of the Hongkong Automobile Association (Mr. P. M. Hodgson) was also present. The Hongkong Hotel Company was represented by Mr. J. H. Taggart, (the general manager) and Mr. Parsons (manager of the Hotel Garage). Mr. E. D. C. Wolfe, Miss Kathleen Wolfe and Miss Ellen Garrod were also present. All the officials expressed themselves as thoroughly satisfied and highly delighted with the trial trip.

The coaches, which are a White production, are each fitted with a 40-h.p. engine, and they are built on limousine lines. The body is enamelled to a shade of Packard blue, and bears on either side of the car the crest of the Hongkong Hotel. The bonnet of the car is black. The roof is double-lined with leather and the sides, from the chassis to the roof, are open. In rainy weather the sides can be closed by means of leather drop curtains fitted with celluloid windows.

The coaches, which are 7 feet 4 inches broad (over all), seat 12 passengers comfortably. The passengers enter the bus from the back and a gangway of satisfactory width runs down the centre. The seating accommodation is conveniently arranged; there are five seats taking two passengers each and two single seats at the back. The interior is upholstered with dark leather. Five electric domes are fitted to the roof and balls are fixed alongside each set of seats, so that the passengers can signal to the driver to stop. The coaches have been specially built to suit the Colony's roads. The same type of vehicle is very popular in California, for regular long-distance runs.

SLAVERY AND CONCUBINAGE IN CHINA.

ACTION BY CANTON GOVERNMENT.

The Canton Times of February 11th, states that Mr. Hsu Shien, the Chief of the Supreme Court, recently submitted a suggestion to the President regarding forbidding the practice of keeping slave-girls in any family. Mr. Hsu set forth that inasmuch as it is laid down in the Provisional Law of the Chinese Republic, that the Chinese people are equal, and there is no difference in grades, it is contrary to law, as well as humanitarian doctrine, to keep slave-girls. Mr. Hsu advised that this had practice on the part of the Chinese public should be strictly forbidden by the Government.

A Cabinet meeting on February 9th, unanimously approved the recommendation and the matter was referred to the Law Committee for the purpose of framing the necessary regulations.

THE STRIKE SITUATION.

SEAMEN'S DELEGATES IN HONGKONG.

The delegates from the seamen in Canton did not "establish contact," during the week-end, with either the Secretariat for Chinese Affairs or the shipowners' committee. They are understood to have reached the Colony on Friday night and no doubt are conferring with their fellow workers here are taking stock of the situation. The parties may be expected to get together to-day. The shipowners' committee held no meeting during the week-end; they are awaiting a move from the other party to the dispute. The Hon. Mr. Hallifax has not yet met the strikers' representatives but he states that "discussions are proceeding" so it may be inferred that he is in touch with the delegates in some degree.

YESTERDAY'S LABOUR SUPPLIES.

Owing to the fact that most of the big firms were closed yesterday, the number of coolies working along the waterfront was considerably less than usual. About 600 coolies were despatched to various jobs from the Central Police Station early in the morning. Applicants for jobs were plentiful and a large number had to be turned away. At West Point and Wan-chai well over a 1,000 coolies were working on piece time jobs, these jobs being more or less of a standing nature. As employers now know where to tap the various sources of labour it is hoped that in the course of the next few days the recruiting of labour through the police will gradually become unnecessary.

ORIGIN OF THE HONGKONG AND SHANGHAI BANK.

THE LATE SIR THOMAS SUTHERLAND'S REMINISCENCES.

The China Express & Telegraph (which is the name of the old London & China Express in its new form), in its obituary notice of the late Sir Thomas Sutherland reproduces the following extracts from a letter contributed by Sir Thomas Sutherland to the columns of that paper in March, 1908:—

It is pretty well known that in the '60's I was the superintendent of the P. & O. Company in Hongkong, and had charge of its business generally in China and Japan. It was customary for me to board every mail steamer, as they were taken up in order to arrange about the work which had to be done. On one particular occasion the steamer happened to be the Odessa, commanded by Captain Eastley, who may still be remembered by a few old friends as one of the most kindly and humorous men in our service. When we had transacted our business on deck, the captain asked me to come to his cabin, as he had something of a private nature to communicate. This was to tell me that the wild speculation in Bombay had just started a bank, called the Royal Bank of China; but the shares had been taken up and were at a high premium, with the exception of a certain limited number, which were to be appropriated in China, where the directors were to be found, and the profits eventually earned. Captain Eastley added that a gentleman would shortly arrive in China for the purpose of forming the Board, distributing the modest medium of shares, and superintending the inauguration of the business. My friend strongly advised me, in all good faith, to be well to the front in securing an interest in such a promising speculation!

The news of this movement had doubtless been widely conveyed in the correspondence from Bombay to firms in China, but to my surprise the subject was never alluded to in conversation, or commented on in the Press. Meantime, I myself felt a patriotic stirring of disgust at the idea of a great community like that of China being made the cat's paw of a gang of speculators in Bombay, and I set to work to write out a very modest prospectus of a local bank for China, basing my views as to success on the same principle of co-operation as had been so successfully carried out in connection with the local insurance societies which were then flourishing shareholders.

I subsequently showed this document to my friend Mr. Pollard, with a view, in the first place, to its legal aspect, and also with the suggestion that it would be worth his while to make a professional matter of promoting this new enterprise. Mr. Pollard at once warmly adopted the suggestion, and in the course of two or three days we had obtained the adhesion of the most eminent firms in China to our provisional committee. The prospectus was advertised a day or two afterwards, and the shares were subscribed for over and over again. A Colonial Charter was applied for and promised, and when the Commissioner of the Royal Bank of China arrived from Bombay he could not place a single share or win a solitary adherent to his foredoomed enterprise.

Sir Thomas went on to state that during the first two or three years of its existence, when he was the deputy chairman, there occurred some incidents of a thrilling kind.

The Chief Judge of the Supreme Court of Canton has further suggested the repeal of the supplement to the Penalty Code of China which was arbitrarily promulgated by Yuan Shih-kai. Mr. Hsu Hsien says this supplement gives encouragement to the existence of concubinage which is strongly in conflict with the sentiments of the civilized world. Mr. Hsu's suggestion was discussed in a Cabinet meeting a few days ago and referred to the Law Committee of the Presidential House for investigation. It is now reported that the members of the Law Committee strongly support Mr. Hsu's suggestion and it will be reported for enforcement at the next Cabinet meeting.

SOME MARRIAGE CUSTOMS IN JAPAN.

MARRIAGE BY CAPTURE.

A writer in the Japan Times and Mail under the pseudonym of "Antolycus," says:—

Marriage by capture is about as old as mankind, and its symbolic survivals are numerous enough to shock the perfect prudities of modern society. In Japan there seems to be nothing left to shock, for there is a well developed actual marriage by capture which still exists and is practiced in Oda Gori, Bitchu Provinces, in the vicinity of the town of Kamajima.

As always, when a young man looks upon a young woman and finds her good in his sight, he sighs for her, but in Kamajima he does not need to sigh for her long. Because no sooner does the desire for her mount high in his breast than he follows her as she goes out to her work in the morning and simply takes her by force and carries her away with him to his home, carrying her over his back like a bag of rice.

The next day the girl's parents are informed of the capture of their daughter. The custom is that they at once hustle into their best clothes and hasten to the captor's house with a present of exactly one 'sho' of rice (1,388 qts.), no more nor less.

When they have made the acquaintance of their daughter's ravisher, if they are satisfied with him, a formal promise of ordinary marriage is made between them. But should the gentleman be displeasing to them they take their daughter home at once. In any event, no matter what becomes of the girl, the man in the case has not one word to say from the time he has stolen her from among her companions.

When I inquired a bit into the interesting complications such a custom might occasion, I was most positively informed that before the capture takes place, there is always some arrangement made between the parents of the young people. And there romance vanishes!

THE IDEAS OF MARCH.

There is always a scarcity of engaged women in Aso district in Kumamoto Prefecture in the month of January. The women of the neighbourhood, steal away the bride to be and take her with them, living alone with her secluded from the rest of the people.

In March the wedding ceremonies take place. As the happy couple is completing the ceremony of drinking the three times three cups of sake, the go-between enters the ceremony room bearing a "suri-bachi"—an earthenware mortar used to grind up "miso." He then walks most ceremoniously to the centre of the room singing a song of congratulation. As he sings he stirs about in the mortar with the "suri-koge"—the pestle. When he comes to the end of his song he breaks the mortar with the pestle and scatters the pieces on the floor. This custom is observed in the home of poor and rich alike, and the room of ceremony is open to the gaze of all the passers-by.

This ceremony is extremely interesting to the student of symbolism.

THE MEANEST MARRIAGE.

In Hanashina District and Nishifuna District in Shinano Prefecture there is about the meanest marriage custom actively observed to-day, that I have found in the scanty literature on this subject.

Just as the bride and groom have finished drinking the three times three cups of sake, all the young people of the village rush into the room and strip the bride and groom naked, leaving them not even with a smile to face the jeering world. Then all these practical jokers dance about them crying "Behold the Bride, Behold the Groom," until they almost die of shame from the unmanly exposure they are subjected to.

The old people say that the reason the newly wed couple is subjected to this agonizing torture is found in the desire of all the community that they shall never be able to forget their wedding night!

DIAMOND BOOM COMING.

Diamonds are still safe investments; for, despite the present slightly falling market, a big boom for next year is predicted. This opinion, expressed to an Evening Standard representative by a Hatton Garden merchant, appears to set up the general situation.

Even the temporary shutting down of the De Beers mines, he proceeded, "can hardly stiffen the market just yet, as large quantities of diamonds are in the hands of the trade. The wholesale prices have eased off during the past five or six weeks, and the retail prices are bound to do so also. The fact is that there has been no such slump in the diamond trade for many years. This is attributed to the existing industrial and economic situation. As business prospers again generally, the diamond trade will also come into its own, and next year a big revival is look for. It is a mistake to suppose, however, that business is dead in Hatton Garden. On the contrary, there is quite a lot doing; but the turn over is comparatively small. There is, however, quite a brisk trade in emeralds since the announcement of the Royal engagement. As to diamonds, the tendency is towards fewer of the more expensive stones, and more filigree work in the large ornaments, while in the smaller jewellery, 'springs' of lighter weight than the deeper cut brilliants are in fair demand."

BIGGER GOLF BALL.

The Rules of Golf Committee having received from notable players the opinion that a substantial increase in the minimum diameter of the ball would achieve the restoration of balance between the power of the ball and the length of the holes, it has been decided to make experiments with balls of a diameter varying between 1.65 and 1.68 inches. Championship Clubs are organizing special competitions with this ball, in the hope that other clubs will do likewise.

SCOTTISH LETTER.

A HALF-AND-HALF CHRISTMAS.

[FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.]

EDINBURGH, December 28th.
The observance of Christmas is in a transition stage in Scotland, with all the uncertainties and unsatisfactoriness of that condition. It is not a general holiday, neither is it a religious festival. For though certain classes in Scotland follow the English custom, the masses of the people still celebrate the New Year. The influence of Christmas, however, is growing in the North, most of all in the large cities.

This year Christmas fell upon a Sunday, and the religious side of it was therefore emphasised. But what struck one most was the way in which a holiday was observed on the following Monday. All the banks and offices were closed and about half of the shops. It is true that industry was carried on as usual, but the general attitude of the public would have been unthinkable only a generation ago. For the second year no daily newspapers were published in Scotland, and no one made a complaint.

The gradual change in Christmas observance is one more instance of the influence of the predominant partner. Perfidious Scots may gird as they like, but they cannot get away from the neighbourhood of England and all that that connects. Constantly we are taking colour in a thousand ways from our neighbours South of the Cheviots.

Those who love a little joke against the Scots will enjoy this remark which I heard from a thrifty Scottish housewife of my acquaintance, "And the plum-pudding left over from Christmas comes in handy for the dinner on New Year's Day."

BOOM IN SCOTCH WHISKY AROUND THE U.S.A.

The Scottish distilleries report that, with the decline of their export trade to the United States, there has been more than a corresponding increase in orders from Canada, the States of South America, and the islands on the other side of the Atlantic. For the past three months, indeed, there has been practically no direct shipment of whisky to the United States of North America from this country. But significance is attached to the fact that islands within easy shipping reach of the States are importing quantities of Scotch whisky, overwhelming in excess of their consumption capacity of several years ago. There is more than a shrewd suspicion that the greater proportion finds its way surreptitiously into the "dry" land which is only a short week's sail distant. The distillery firms deny that as a whole their export trade is affected by the Prohibition movement in any part of the world.

THE KILT IN THE EAST.

Up till now the British has been the only Royal Court to recognise the Highland dress. But a member of the Royal suite of the Court of Siam, a Scot, has just ordered a full Highland costume from a well-known outfitter and specialist, who has received a promise of a similar order from the King of Siam. The kilt is also being supplied to several native courts in India. The explanation given by Highland outfitters for this vogue of the kilt is the appeal made by the appearance of the Scottish regiments during the war.

SCOTS FISHERMEN AND A REVIVAL.

Great interest is being excited, even among what may be called non-church-going people, by a most extraordinary religious revival at present in progress in some parts of Scotland. Its limitations, as much as its extent, provoke curiosity and speculation. Revivals have their spring tides and their ebbs, and it is perhaps not strange that some of their most remarkable manifestations should be found among the fisherfolk who do business in great waters, and see the wonders of the Creator in the deep. It is at least suggestive that the "wave of revivalism" which has swept along the Eastern Coast of Scotland should have been practically confined to the fishing stations, and to the section of the population engaged in the harvest of the sea. There must be psychological and possible racial, social, and educational reasons for the fact that in the Fraserburgh district, which may be taken as the centre of the present movement, the sixth part of the community that can be classed as fisherfolk have been strongly affected, while the remaining five-sixths—engaged in other industries have been touched slightly, if at all. And that while the fire of enthusiasm has spread with lightning rapidity and intensity from one coast village to another, it has not spread inland. Are we to conclude from this that people belonging to the fishing calling are more susceptible to religious impressions than others; that they are more alive than their neighbours to their sins and the necessity of repentance; or merely that their emotional and moral nature is more liable to be carried away by sudden gusts of impulse? There may be something in the suggestion that the occupation of the fisherman brings him more directly into the presence of the great forces of nature than the landman and thus renders him more sensitive to primal spiritual influences; although it may be noted that the same causes do not appear to produce similar effects on the sailor. But other reasons seem to be required to explain the circumstances that revival movements are more frequent and more violent in fisher communities, and especially in Scottish fisher communities than elsewhere, and that they display a periodicity and recurring phenomena not as yet thoroughly investigated. It has been observed that in other respects our fisherfolk are "a peculiar people" who do not readily mingle with the other inhabitants of the country, and have their own special habits, ideals, and beliefs, notably in matters religious.

The movement sprang into existence at Lowestoft and Yarmouth, to which large numbers of Scottish fishermen and fisher girls resort, and was carried North on the return of these migratory bodies to their homes. It is pointed out, also, that it has followed hard on a very bad fishing season. Unusual prosperity was
